You have two databases named DB1 and DB2 that are located on the same server.

You plan to create a stored procedure named SProcl in DB1. SProcl will query a table named Table2 in DB2.

You need to recommend a solution to ensure that SProcl can access Table2 without granting users direct access to Table2. What should you include in the recommendation? More than one answer choice may achieve the goal. Select the BEST answer.

- A. Contained databases
- B. Cross-database ownership chaining
- C. Application roles
- D. Digital certificates

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation

An application role is a database principal that enables an application to run with its own, userlike permissions. You can use application roles to enable access to specific data to only those users who connect through a particular application. Unlike database roles, application roles contain no members and are inactive by default.
