NEW QUESTION: 1

You are adding a relationship to a table.

Which two best practices should you follow? Each correct answer presents part of the solution.

A. Define a navigational relationship; the validate property on the relation should be set to

"Yes" for easier navigation.

B. Set the validate property to No when you are using navigational relationships so that the application is easy to navigate.

C. Define the relationship to a foreign key on the child table by setting the validate property on the relation to Yes.

D. Name the relationship with an "_rel" suffix in order to differentiate it from the index that is appended with "_idx".

Answer: B,C

Explanation:

Section: Develop new elements by using Application Explorer (20-25%)

Explanation

Explanation/Reference:

Name

The name of a relation should be postfixed with the name of the table it relates to. For example, CustBankAccounts could be a relation on the BankAccounts table. If there is only one relation for a table, you can just use the table name for the relation instead.

Relations in the Data Model

A relation should be defined on the table that is holding the foreign key to the relating table.

The Validate

property must be set to Yes.

The system guarantees that data entered in the database fulfills the specified relations.

The Self Relation

If a table has a key, the key must be defined by using relations. Such a relation is called the 'self relation'.

The self relation should not be set up in situations where the fields in the key are all foreign keys (such as relations to other tables) - or more specifically, where the last field in the self relation is a foreign key.

Navigational Relations

Navigational relations are definitions of relations that exist among data in tables where there are no integrity constraints.

Defining a navigational relation benefits the system's Auto Join system when one form is opened from within another form.

Define navigational relations to make it easy to navigate in the application by using related information.

A navigational relation has the Validate property set to No.

The Auto Join system uses relations that are defined at both the involved tables, which means that you only have to define a navigational relation on the one table to the other to make the Auto Join system work both ways.

Configuration Keys

The configuration key that is specified for the field in a relation must be the same key, or in the same tree of keys, as the key used for the related field. If the external field in a relationship can be removed, due to configuration key settings, and the field on which the relation is set is not also removed, you will get a best practices warning.

NEW QUESTION: 2

A client presents to the psychiatric unit crying hysterically. She is diagnosed with severe anxiety disorder.

The first nursing action is to:

- A. Give her something to do
- B. Demand that she relax
- C. Ask what is the problem
- D. Stand or sit next to her

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Explanation:

(A) This nursing action is too controlling and authoritative. It could increase the client's anxiety level. (B) In her anxiety state, the client cannot rationally identify a problem. (C) This nursing action conveys a message of caring and security. (D) Giving the client a task would increase her anxiety. This would be a late nursing action.

NEW QUESTION: 3

How does Cisco Unified Cisco Unified Communications Manager perform digit analysis?

- A. Use a set of route lists and filters to match all collected digits of a dialed number.
- B. Send all collected digits through the Dialed Number Analyzer to determine the best call routing match within Cisco Unified CM
- C. Perform a digit-by-digit analysis to find the best matching route pattern based on a devices partition
- D. Perform a digit-by-digit analysis to find the best matching route pattern within the partition list in the calling search space of a device

Answer: D
