The FIRST step in developing an information security management program is to:

- A. identify business risks that affect the organization.
- B. assess adequacy of controls to mitigate business risks.
- C. clarify organizational purpose for creating the program.
- D. assign responsibility for the program.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Explanation:

In developing an information security management program, the first step is to clarify the organization's purpose for creating the program. This is a business decision based more on judgment than on any specific quantitative measures. After clarifying the purpose, the other choices are assigned and acted upon.
